

being fopped

I can usually figure out quite easily what someone is about I was quiet as a child being occupied with human observation the construction of a mind is a lot of fun to find if I can do it secretly but you're someone I don't get, it's like your slipping through my net course you do the same to me you are always smiling and our eyes are interlocked and I am busy with regarding how on earth I'm being fopped so I can't figure you out, I don't know what you're about but nonetheless I'm always pleased to see you smile, when you come I know you stay for a while quite some time ago you changed the rules the moment I noticed you observe me too I'm left with being amused, course we still do refuse to let us figure each other out now I am always smiling and our eyes are interlocked and you are busy with regarding how on earth you're being fopped but all this is possible because when we have to, you and me can be serious we can manage for a while to stop joking around, we can even stop to smile

I know you're happy to have met me and I'm damn sure pleased to know you too there's no fopping around with that even though I am already looking forward to going back to fopping you

course we are always smiling and our eyes are interlocked and we are busy with regarding if it's you or if it's me that's being fopped